Repairing an Old Coat with
New Cloth is Unsatisfactory

THE Glendale city council has started a movement for the adding of a four-foot walk at the side of the Pacific avenue bridge, the purpose of this being primarily for the safety of school children who are compelled to pass over that structure daily to and from school. This action of the council is to be commended for too many safeguards cannot be thrown around the children of the city.

But the council should not be satisfied with adding to this bridge. An entirely new bridge should be constructed—one that is capable of adequately handling the traffic that is now crossing it and that will in the future surely use it as a means of crossing the wash.

At the meeting of the council last Thursday night residents of the northwest section who use this bridge almost exclusively in driving to and from the business section of Glendale, stated that they are sure the people of that district are perfectly willing to be assessed to pay for a good bridge at that point—something that will be a credit to Glendale and that will handle the traffic as it should be handled.

We do not think it is wise to spend money in the repair of this bridge, when a permanent structure is so badly needed and when the people benefited are willing to pay for new construction.

When on the bridge question there comes to mind the Central avenue structure, which is entirely inadequate. Possibly an assessment district could be formed to pay for both of these bridges. For the safety of those using these bridges, the matter of replacing them with new structures should be pushed to the limit by the council.

A FATAL accident occurred at the intersection of Park avenue and the Southern Pacific tracks at an early hour Monday morning. One man was killed and another was injured. We do not know who was to blame for the accident, but we do realize that that is one of the most dangerous railroad crossings in this section. It is time for the Southern Pacific company to place a wig-wag at that point. More and more, as the region west of the tracks is built up that crossing is going to be put to greater use, thus increasing the danger. The wig-wag must eventually be constructed, and we see no reason why it should not be erected immediately. It should be that the lives and property of those having to cross this point daily may be safeguarded.

At last night's meeting of the Glendale city council a suggested dog ordinance was submitted to them by Edwin F. Kulp, representing the Dog Protective association.

It looks as though this proposed ordinance would be a happy solution for the vexing dog problem. The control of dogs in Glendale has been under consideration for the past year, and has been the means of stirring up considerable ill feeling.

The Glendale city council is now proposing to create a humane animal commission of five members, to hold office without compensation for two years. This commission, with the aid of a paid secretary is to enforce all ordinances of the city of Glendale which have to do with the control of stray animals.

THE provision of the ordinance is such as to control the stray dogs without putting any hardships on the owners.

We can see no reason for any objection to this ordinance, and we hope it will be passed at the earliest date and solve this much discussed problem.

CENTRAL AVENUE BRIDGE AT WASH TO BE IMPROVED

The bridge over the wash at Central avenue will be improved by the addition of a 5-foot sidewalk on either side, according to a statement given out by City Manager Reeves this morning. This information was received today, states Mr. Reeves, from Henry W. Wright of the board of supervisors of Los Angeles county. The work on this improvement will start within 60 days.

GRASS FIRE MENACES BUILDINGS ON VERDUGO

A grass fire, which threatened nearby buildings, was discovered at the corner of Canada and Verdugo at 12:10 o'clock this morning. The prompt action of the department resulted in the flames being extinguished before any damage had been done.

MEN OF '98 TO PICNIC IN GLENDALE

Eleven County Posts of Spanish War Veterans
Coming July 4th

TO VERDUGO PARK

Activities to Start Early and Wind Up Late at Night

There are eleven Spanish-American War veteran posts in Los Angeles, and all eleven will be generously represented at the big picnic at Verdugo park on the Fourth of July. Veterans from all parts of the county are coming and bringing their families with them for one of the greatest get-togethers since the termination of the Spanish-American war.

There will be something doing every minute, from 10 o'clock in the morning until late at night. The local committee composed of F. C. Butler, Fred Dickson, purchasing agent for the city, and C. M. Young, have spent no means to make this a grand and glorious event in celebration of the Fourth of July.

Scores of merchants throughout the city have entered enthusiastically into the plans for this picnic and have generously donated attractive prizes to be given for the different events. A huge 25-pound frank cake valued at $50 will be raffled at some opportune time. This cake was provided by the Titus Fruit Cake company and Penderoy's Department Store. This cake will bear the date, place and name of the Glendale camp in icing. Prizes, including a beautifully decorated table lamp, from the Newton Electric company; auto accessories from the Monarch Auto Supply Co., Wm. H. Hooper Auto Supply Co., and other acceptable articles from the Baldwin Shirt Co., Lyman Clark of the Maxwell agency, the Wilson-Bell, Gregg and Glendale Hardware stores, Ed Nisile, clothing; C. H. Kirkman, Bott's Book Store, Page Furniture company, Trice Furniture Co., Hatz Ready-to-Wear, Art Dibbon and Lewis Jewelry Co., Jensen Drug Store, and Roberts & Echoles, druggists; Sam Seelig, and many others whose names will be given later.

Comrades Sam Warren and F. E. Peters will conduct the country store. They will be able to find everything one could possibly suggest for picnicking.

Congressman Swing from El Centro will be present to give an address. Sheriff Traeger will also be on hand to greet the folks he helps to protect.

The following program of events will be followed through the day: 10 a. m.—Welcome of camp of Santa Monica and Sawtelle. 11 a. m.—Arrival of county council and assembly according to camps. Registration.

There will be a horse shoe pitching contest at 11 o'clock, with prizes for the winner.

From 12 o'clock to 2:30 picnic lunches will be in order. There will be stands where the appetizing "hot dog" will be sold and baked beans, hot coffee and other eats will be available. The Glendale Women's Auxiliary will serve ice cream and coffee.

A baseball game between the team from the Ensign Bagley Post of Pasadena and a picked team from the Glendale vets will be held. This will be a scrappy and amusing encounter.

Members of the gentler sex will be invited to join in a mail driving contest. First aid kits and trained nurses will be in attendance at this event and the casualties will be carefully recorded.

A picked orchestra from the local veterans will furnish enchanting music for dancing during the evening. The picnic will not end until midnight, which will terminate the celebration of a glorious fourth in a glorious way.

Veterans and their families who come on the street car, will take the Montrose car to Glorieta, where they will be met by machines to take them to the picnic grounds.

NIGHT SCHOOL TEAM DEFEATS CHURCH TEAM

Members of the night school twilight baseball team, defeated the team from the Christian church by a score of 20 to 11 at the game played on the Glendale Union high school grounds Monday night. Tonight the Legion will play the team from Newton.

The game scheduled between the Ford agency and Standard Oil for July 4th will played on July 6th instead.

KIDDER BITTEN BY DOG

Elmer Kidder, 325 West Acacia street, was bitten Monday by a dog owned by F. Marshall, 525 South Central, according to police records. Dr. Kaemmerling has ordered that the dog be picked up and held for observation.

DEMPEY FIGHT IS ASSURED

TO TAKE A CHANCE

Belief That Ticket Receipts Will Make Up the Deficit

[By Associated Press]

GREAT FALLS, Mont., July 3.—The Jack Dempsey-Tommy Gibbons championship heavyweight fight, suddenly called off at midnight last night, was back on its feet again today and will be decided in the big pine bowl at Shelby tomorrow as scheduled.

Jack Kearns, manager of the world's heavyweight champion, at a conference which broke up at 2:30 a. m. today, agreed to send Dempsey to the ring against the St. Paul man tomorrow and gamble for the final $100,000 installment due Dempsey on his $300,000 guarantee. The promoters guaranteed the preliminary expenses of the show, which includes the payment of the boxers of the preliminary bouts, $5000 to Jimmy Dougherty, the referee, and other incidental expenses, which probably will amount to $30,000.

Major L. E. Lane of Lewistown, who resigned as trustee for the promoters yesterday, after failing to raise Dempsey's $100,000, decided to continue as trustee and assist the promoters in unangling the muddled finances. Kearns will have jurisdiction over all receipts until the champion's $100,000 is secured. The gate receipts will then revert to the promoters.

Loy J. Molmby, of Great Falls, who signed the articles assuring the championship for Shelby, today is back in control as promoter, assisted by his associates who originally conceived the idea of having Dempsey risk his title in the boom town of the plains. Mayor Jim Johnson of Shelby, who personally sunk $150,000 in the venture, also is back.

Johnson who came to Great Falls last night from Shelby, making the 100 mile trip in an automobile, was reported to be in such a nervous condition that he was unable to participate in any of the conferences. He remained in the banking institution of George H. Stanton, president of the Stanton Trust and Savings bank while frantic efforts were being made to save the fight for Shelby.

The fight was actually called off at 12:30 o'clock this morning after an angry argument between Jack Kearns and Stanton, in a room crowded with newspaper correspondents. Stanton appeared to tell Kearns that the $100,000 which the champion's manager had demanded, was not available, and he saw no prospect of raising it.

"I feel that Dempsey ought to fight," Stanton said. "He already has received $210,000. It is cruel to Gibbons that such a condition has arisen and in justice to the sport it is my opinion that Dempsey should go ahead and fight."

Kearns declared he would accept $50,000 in cash at once and get the remaining $50,000 from the first money that went through the gates. Stanton advised that it was too late to consider any such proposal and that the $50,000 in cash was not available as the $50,000 pledges from the Montana business men who had attempted to raise the money had been returned.

Some of the newspaper correspondents asked Stanton point blank if his statement meant that the fight was off.

"As far as I am concerned, it's off," the banker replied.

Kearns, his face flushed with anger, turned on his heel and said: "That's good enough for me; it's off."

The champion's manager immediately left the room, going to his own quarters. Major Lane, who was asleep at another hotel, was awakened and informed that there would be no fight. He hurried to Kearns' room to begin the series of conferences that resulted in the restoration of the battle.

Up to the last minute Kearns believed that the fight was off. His belief was so firm that he had

GRAND JURY CALLS GLENDALE WITNESS IN ANNEX PROBE

City Engineer and City Clerk Summoned to Testify on Lake St.

Investigation of the alleged activities of certain Glendale city officials in the project to annex adjacent territory which has occupied the attention of the county grand jury for three weeks, resulted yesterday in the examination of City Engineer V. B. Stone and City Clerk A. J. Van Wier, of Glendale, today in Los Angeles.

The investigation which is being conducted by Deputy District Attorney Tracey C. Becker, has been carefully guarded. Not less than two dozen witnesses have already been examined by the grand jury. The district in question is that of the Lake street district, the annexation to Glendale which was thrown out by the courts after it had been accomplished.

already prepared a statement explaining his position. All through the strenuous night of conferences, dickering and indecisions, Dempsey, the heavy-weight champion, slept peacefully in his training camp on the banks of the Missouri river on the outskirts of the town. He will leave for Shelby, early tomorrow in a private car, arriving there about 11 o'clock for the first glimpse of the battle ground.

Everyone Finds Every- body Else Busy in the Advertising Stores

REVIEW OF BARGAINS

Merchants Well Pleased
With Results of z
Effort

BY JENNIE SWENSEN

Never before in Glendale has the realization that "it pays to advertise" come so fully, as it has since the establishment of the Monday Shopping Day event.

Formerly the truth of this slogan was only realized in a particular sense by the merchant himself. Now the shopper is the one to realize it fully. To the concerted action on the part of the merchants a concerted response is being made by the shoppers.

They are meeting their best friends throughout the city at the stores on Mondays. They are telling one another of the values they have seen. They are discussing the advertisements in the Saturday Shopping News, found in each Saturday's Press, and they are buying.

The merchants could tell how well they are buying the things they found time to make reports. But Monday shopping has changed Monday from the dullest to the busiest day of the week, and with the rest of the days showing goods that compare favorably with the sale on corresponding days before the inauguration of Monday Shopping the merchants are finding that a succeeding week shows a pleasing increase in the week's trade, with a very noticeable increase in the response to the ads in the Monday Shopping News.

The shoppers have said that at last a satisfactory method of finding out about the offers made by the Glendale merchants has been found. They are co-operating to the full, and in the meantime have managed to realize with the merchants that "it pays to advertise."

ONE HUSBAND MORE OR LESS SAYS SHE

SAN FRANCISCO, July 3 (United Press)—It was a dull month for Mrs. Marie Marguerite Fletcher-Scott-Healy-O'Neare-Doyle, etc., if she didn't get a new husband, John C. Doyle, over in his suit for divorce, which he got. Doyle said Marie told him she shot one of her husbands and the Fletcher man of her name told that he had never divorced the woman since their marriage July 10, 1922. That caused Doyle's suit to be granted on grounds of annulment. Enough husbands is too many.

DOG OWNERS HAVE OWN ORDINANCE FOR THE CITY

Regulation Presented to Council by Association
Representatives

The question of a dog ordinance for Glendale is again before the city council. At the meeting of that body Monday night a proposed ordinance drafted by the Dog Protective association of Glendale, was presented to the council by Edwin F. Kulp, 1234 Villa street, a member of that organization.

The ordinance as drafted is in two parts, or could be termed two ordinances. The belief was expressed by the councilmen, however, that the two could be combined into a separate ordinance very easily. Each of the councilmen was given a draft of the proposed ordinance so that he might carefully consider them before Thursday night, at which time it will be taken up by the council.

Ordinance No. 1, as offered, provides for a humane animal commission and prescribes its powers and duties, and also provides for the appointing of a secretary to the commission.

Ordinance No. 2 defines the duties of the secretary and also the duties of the humane animal commission and regulates the keeping and running at large of certain animals and provides for a dog license.

Following are a few of the "high lights" of the proposed ordinance, which will be in force if the ordinance, as drafted, is passed by the council:

All dogs over four months shall be licensed at a cost of $2 per year or fraction thereof.

For those maintaining kennels, the cost will be, for one to ten dogs, inclusive, $15; for 11 to 15 dogs, inclusive, $20; for 16 or more dogs, $30 per year.

Any registered dog shall be permitted to roam the streets at will. Any person having a dog in his possession for fifteen days shall be declared its lawful owner.

All unlicensed dogs which run the streets shall be picked up by the secretary and impounded.

With twenty-four hours after picking up the dog the secretary shall post conspicuously and have published for three days in the official city paper a description of the dog. Before being killed, if unclaimed, the dog will be kept five days.

The following impounding charges are recommended: For taking and impounding any dog, $1.50.

For impounding any animal mentioned in the ordinance, other than dogs, $2.

For impounding any animal attached to a vehicle, harness or bridle, which has run away from its owner, $1.

A charge of from 50 cents to $1 per day would be made for feeding any such animal impounded.

For giving notice of the sale of such animal, 50 cents.

Dogs of non-residents do not come under this ordinance.

There is a clause in the ordinance which governs the keeping and running at large of animals other than dogs.

Anyone convicted of the violation of any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be fined not less than $5 and not more than $50 or imprisoned in the city jail for a period not to exceed 10 days or both such fine and imprisonment.

The closing provision calls for the repealing of all existing ordinances bearing on this subject.

COUNCIL TAKES ACTION ON NEW IMPROVEMENTS

A petition was received Monday night by the Glendale city council asking that Stocker street from Pacific to the easterly city limits be improved with 5-inch macadam, sidewalk and curbing, and the initial step in this work was ordered taken.

Another petition was received for the improvement of Hill Drive with macadam roadway, curbing and water pipe. The city attorney was instructed to bring in an ordinance for this work.

The superintendent of plant and production was authorized to advertise for a carload of poles.

On motion of Councilman Horn $60 was appropriated for lights on the high school grounds.

The $50 reward received by the police department for the capture of Ernest E. and Stella G. Doss was on suggestion of Chief Fraser, placed in the Glendale police and firemen's relief fund.

Bids for the furnishing of a 350 horse-power motor and centrifugal pump to the city were received and referred to the superintendent of plant and production.

An ordinance amending ordinance No. 529 was adopted. An ordinance was introduced establishing the grade on Kenneth road and Sonora street.

Maps of the following tracts were approved: No. 4124, 5374, 6591, 6339, 6974 and 4053.

PATTERSON PARK CONCERTS OPEN ON JULY FOURTH

A band concert, consisting of patriotic numbers, will be rendered by the Glendale Elks' band at the Patterson Avenue park, beginning at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, July 4th. The band at this time will comprise 30 musicians.

Other features of patriotic interest, it is understood, will be on the program of the afternoon.

All residents of Glendale are invited to this event.

GLENDALE TO CLASH WITH THE ATHLETES

Supremacy of the Local Teams to Be Decided at Park Avenue

The Glendale Indians and the Glendale Athletics will culminate an argument of long standing, when the baseball supremacy of Glendale is decided tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the grounds on San Fernando road and Park avenue.

So far as can be learned before the initial encounter, the teams are well matched and armed to the teeth for a battle royal. The Athletics have made a wonderful record under the careful management of Charlie Brice, the team having lost only two games out of the entire season, when they have played independent games.

Manager Heider of the Glendale Indians is very confident after their victory Sunday. This aggregation has taken the lead in the San Fernando Valley league. The team is confident that the pitching of Slim Ham will cause a few difficulties to be thrown in the way of the Athletics.

The Athletics, on the other hand, are pinning their hopes on Tommy Morgan, the pitcher who, they say, has lots of stuff. Roy Faalner will work with Morgan behind the plate, and the team is convinced that a better battery could not be found.

The type of cars to be used will be of the low level, long wheel base, wide tread of a type similar to street cars with a seating capacity of 20 passengers and equipped with safety devices such as brakes, skid chains, inside lights, speedometers, stop signals and doors operated from the driver's seat.

Applicant will have two cars at present and such additional number of cars as good service demands.

Between the hours of 5:50 a. m. and midnight cars will be run over the entire road one-half hour, past any given point in the same direction.

Applicant will commence operating cars within 60 days from the issuance of the permit.

Applicant agrees to give to the city of Glendale the right of first refusal to purchase from applicant any lines and equipment in use thereon at such time and for such amount as said applicant may be offered, therefore by any bonded purchaser in the form of a written bid accompanied by a certified check of not less than 10 per cent of the amount of said bid.

Applicant agrees not to sell to the Pacific Electric Railway company, the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway company, the Salt Lake Railway company, the Union Pacific Railway company, the Western Railway company, or any other company subsidiary to or in any way connected with any of the steam or electric lines, now or then operating in the city of Glendale, and for thirty days after such notification.

It was also reported that the tax assessor had gone from one merchant to the other inquiring as to the proper amount the other should be taxed, and showing comparative figures to competitive dealers. This alleged breach of ethics on the part of the tax assessor was hotly protested, and it was finally decided to make a report of the matter to the county assessor in an effort to secure justice in the levying of taxes.

In answer to a question that was raised as to why the executive committee did not take care of more matters of the association, Vice-President Potter stated that the association was organized with a view to being as democratic as possible, and that the executive committee preferred to have the members themselves act upon decisive issues.

Mr. Potter also suggested that a legal committee be appointed, whose special duty would be to prosecute the "no fund check artists" and other check passers.

"The cost of prosecuting these wrong doers would be covered by the former amounts lost through checks with no funds to back them. I believe that a practical step toward stopping this practice would be better conditions here. The professional check artist operates most frequently in places where there is no systematic protection to carry prosecutions through would pay the merchant well."

The appointment of this committee was taken under advisement, to be decided upon at a later meeting. The attendance was not up to par at this meeting due to the fact that there had been a slight misunderstanding, some members having understood that the meeting had been postponed.

NEW OWNERS TAKE OVER BROADWAY HARDWARE

J. C. Hutchison and J. A. Godwin, formerly in the hardware business in Imperial Valley, where they enjoyed a brisk business, are the new owners of the Broadway hardware store at 206 West Broadway, where they are taking possession this week.

This is a well established firm, and is expected to continue to form an active part in the Glendale business world. A. E. and W. B. Melina were the former owners.

Both Hutchison and Godwin have had valuable experience in conducting a hardware business. Their business was particularly successful in Imperial Valley, and some of the new ideas in business methods which they employed in their business there, have been brought to Glendale.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH VACATION SCHOOL WORK IS STARTED

Much interest was manifested by the children at the Christian church yesterday morning when the vacation school opened.

There are two departments, primary, including children from 5 to 9 years of age, and junior, those from 9 to 12 years, inclusive. There is a director in charge of the school who is a college graduate and has had normal school training at the Teachers' College of the University of Missouri.

There are four trained teachers and two helpers besides the director, Miss Hazel Wilder, in charge of the primary department, was graduated from the S. E. U. this spring in normal training. Miss Alice Mercer, who has had experience in daily vacation bible school work, is a teacher in this department. Miss Ruth Car and Miss Marjorie Current are also helping.

In the junior department Mrs. S. Jordan is experienced in song leading, and will lead the singing. She is making the songs and music mean much to the boys and girls. Song stories and memory work are features.

Miss Roe is an excellent story teller and is capable in her work among the boys. Miss Garton, who is the director, also works with the juniors.

All children between the ages of 5 and 12 years are invited.

MINNESOTANS' GUEST

Prof. Emil Oberholfer, formerly conductor of the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, will be the guest of the Minnesotans Friday evening, July 6, at their monthly social in Music Art Hall, at 233 South Broadway, Los Angeles.

Prof. Oberholfer will be in charge of the Hollywood Bowl concert this summer and many of his old-time friends will be glad to welcome him to California.

The program of the evening will include readings, musical numbers, roll call of counties and fancy dances.

The evening will be closed with dancing to splendid music. All the Gophers will be welcome whether resident or visiting.

DOUAL (United Press).—The municipal library of this city has received a letter from an ex-soldier of the German army who admits having stolen several valuable prints from the museum while the city was occupied during the war. He offers to return them "for a reasonable sum."

LEGION WOMEN HOLD MEETING

Mrs. Fred Butler and Mrs. Rose Burris Are Initiated

Mrs. Fred Butler and Mrs. Rose Burris were initiated at the business meeting of the American Legion auxiliary, held Monday night at the Legion hall, 610 East Broadway, Glendale, with Mrs. Margaret Kaeding, president, in charge. At the business meeting $200 was transferred to the auxiliary's savings account from the general fund. The greater portion of that amount was proceeds from the sale of tickets on the hope chest disposed of by the auxiliary at the recent Merchants' Exposition.

Members of the Legion were guests of the auxiliary at the program which followed. This included dancing numbers by pupils from the Pearl Keller studio. Miss Eleanor Marek danced the "Highland Fling" and Patricia Carline did a "Patriotic dance." Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

Mrs. Kaeding announced that new members had arrived at the home of three of the auxiliary members: Mrs. Chalmers Day, a son; Mrs. Robert Plume, a son; Mrs. Frank Hagany, a daughter.

The president also made an appeal for the auxiliary members to keep the first Monday evening and third Monday afternoon for the meetings, as much as was accomplished for the comfort of the disabled ex-service men which it was impossible for the government to do.

NEW SUBDIVISION HAS NOVEL OPENING

The Misses Garnette and Hazel Campbell entertained a number of friends last evening around a camp fire at Miss Garnette's new subdivision, a beautiful place on Road 6, End at Los Feliz road and Glendale avenue. A jolly time was spent with fireworks, toasting marshmallows, singing and listening to readings given by Miss Jessie York of Los Angeles, and Miss Hazel Campbell. Many names were suggested by the guests for the new tract. Fruit punch and cake were served.

DANGER OF FILM FIRES REDUCED BY NEW DEVICE

[By Associated Press]

CHICAGO, July 3.—Removing 90 per cent of the heat from light—a long step toward the scientist's dream of "cold light"—has been achieved by a device recently tested and approved by the Underwriter Laboratories, Inc. here for the Society of Visual Education.

The device is an active ray filter for motion picture projectors, and by its use it is possible to stop a highly inflammable film and project "still" pictures without setting fire to the film.

The filter utilizes an old principle that certain materials will break down the heat rays while allowing light rays to pass through. A thin film of gold is the substance used.

The filter consists of two small glass discs, an inch and a half in diameter, coated on one side with a spray of pure gold, and then cemented together, with the coated sides adjoining.

Inside the projector is so arranged that the disc is held above the projection aperture as long as the camera is running and the film moving. Whenever the motor is stopped, or even slows up to dangerous degree, the disc is automatically released and drops into place between the light and the film. The light shining through the gold has a slight greenish cast, but not enough to interfere with the projection of the still pictures.

At close examination the disc appears to be opaque and looks like a mirror with a gold instead of a silver back. It will reflect objects as readily as an ordinary mirror. When held to the light, however, the thin gold film appears transparent.

Tests at the laboratory of the underwriters showed the disc was 90 per cent efficient, only one-tenth of the heat applied on one side being recorded on the other, and that a strip of nitro-cellulose film could be left motionless in the camera indefinitely without danger of fire so long as the filter was in place. As soon the filter was raised the film burst into flames in less than one second.

SHAKESPEARE SECTION TO HOLD SPORT DANCE

Arrangements for a sport dance and card party to be given on July 17 at the Tuesday Afternoon Clubhouse were made at the meeting of the Shakespeare section held Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the tea room. Mrs. Walter Jones, curator, will be general chairman in charge. Mrs. B. O. Holbrook will have the "500" room and Mrs. F. S. Card will have the bridge room. Each chairman will appoint her own assistants.

The members of the section were assigned their parts for the play, "The Twelfth Night," with which they will open the fall season. The purpose of the dance is to raise funds to pay for material for costumes.

GLENDALE MUSIC CLUB PATRON LIST STILL OPEN

Mrs. Mattie B. Jones has announced that the patron membership list of the Glendale Music Club, of which she is president, will be left open until August 1. This will give an opportunity for those who have not taken out their membership in this organization to do so before the year book goes to press.

Joyous Bucharest Needs No Boosters To Sing Its Praises

[By Associated Press] BUCHAREST, July 3.—Bucharest is growing faster than any city in Europe. It is spreading out in all directions over the neighboring plains in an effort to house its population of a million, which is still growing. In 1913 the capital's population was only 338,000, which included 35,000 Austrians and Hungarians and 43,000 Jews.

Bucharest is the joy city of Europe. Love and laughter, song and wine, dancing and card-playing, are as dear to the Rumanian heart as to the gayest spirits in Bohemia.

The Rumanian eats five times a day, and is ready for another repast at midnight. He dislikes going to bed. He loves his wine-jug and his cards. And he would die without his rumoffee and his gossip about the latest scandal of the town.

Rumanian women, who admittedly are the most attractive and fascinating in the Balkans, owe their striking beauty to their strain of gypsy or Greek blood, their languorous eyes and their olive complexions. They are buoyant and vivacious, romantic and pleasure-loving.

Both sexes in Rumania use perfume, rouge and cosmetics in profusion. The cosmetic business is one of the most profitable in Rumania. The Rumanian men are tall, handsome and dark, but are inclined to be effeminate. They wear form-fitting jackets, waistbands, and affect monocles and spats. This, of course, does not apply to the peasantry, who are a sturdy, homely, energetic lot, and constitute the backbone of the country and its chief hope for the future.

"I am afraid poor Floss is going to have rabies, Dr. Vet," said the fair dog owner anxiously.

"Why, I don't see any signs of it," said the doctor kindly. "What makes you think so?"

"Why, you see," said the lady, "this poor little tongue is always hanging out of his mouth."

"That is in accord with a merciful dispensation of providence," returned the doctor. "You see, if it were to hang out of his ear he would have difficulty in drinking."

Many men are like razors—sharper after being strapped.

A ROMANCE OF AMBITION AT THE T. D. & L.

[By Associated Press]

A poignant romance of ambition, struggle and achievement is "What A Wife Learned," the latest Thomas H. Ince production for the screen. It tells a modern-day love story of a primitive man who is awakened to realization of his own powers by the striving of his wife for self-expression. It opens tonight at the T. D. & L. theatre.

A cattle stampede; a fall from the dizzying heights of a towering steel structure; the spectacular breaking of a great dam and the struggle for life of two men who are caught in the raging waters are a few of the dramatic incidents which form the background for an enthralling romance.

The glory of the rugged west where Sheila, the woman, meets the virile westerner who wins her heart, is contrasted in the picture with the glamour of the cultured east where the dramatization of her first successful novel takes her to ranches of Arizona, her husband finds it impossible to comprehend the driving impulse back of his wife's ambition until his own latent powers find self-expression in a great piece of engineering, the building of a dam which means the reclamation of thousands of acres of arid soil. In their final reconciliation a new conception of the "greater marriage," based on mutual striving and achievement is envisioned in this romance of the new century.

GLEE CLUB WORK OF COMMUNITY SERVICE

One of the activities of Glendale Community Service arranged for at the meeting of the social recreation committee, held Monday at the chamber of commerce headquarters, was that of the glee club work. Over thirty-five young people of the city have already signed up.

A general invitation is extended to all interested in glee club work to attend the first meeting of this branch of community service activities, to be held Thursday evening, July 5, at 8 o'clock at the Tuesday Afternoon Clubhouse. J. A. Myers will be director of the club and plans will be outlined for the work to be taken up.

Truths in Epigram

Presents, I often say, endears absents.—Lamb.

And when once the young heart of a maiden is stolen, the maiden herself will steal after it soon.—Moore.

Venerable men! You have come down to us from a former generation. Heaven has bounteously lengthened out your lives, that you might behold this joyous day.—Webster.

A COURAGEOUS OFFICER OF POLICE

We take occasion to express the very sincere hope that the community of Los Angeles, through its executive department, will fully recognize the courage and fidelity to duty of Police Sergeant Bethel, who, after being shot through the abdomen and the leg by one of a pair of thugs he had under arrest and was taking to the police station, shot and killed both of the outlaws while speeding in a motor car, which eventually brought up against a building and was wrecked.

That was a case of individual courage and the overcoming of brutal injuries with high spirit that deserves more than passing notice. If we were to congratulate the police officer on the thing secondary only to his fine spirit, it would be upon the accuracy of his aim.

It is said that both of the men killed were paroled prisoners from the state penitentiary. If this is true it would be a fine time to take some account of the whole matter of the parole of prisoners. Two police officers were shot and killed not long ago by a gang of thugs, and it was said at least a part of the gang was out on parole. And between the well meaning if poorly advised people who want to release all of the prisoners in the penitentiary, and the police officers who have to round up many of them at the risk of life, we must take a firm and irrevocable stand on the side of the police.

Occasional crooks among them there may be. So there are occasional crooks among bankers, lawyers, doctors, preachers and even newspapermen. But there is much fine and high courage, as in the case just referred to. And it deserves praise.

THE LESSON OF WAR

Over in the harbor of Los Angeles for a day or so was the greatest battleship afloat. It was the United States battleship Maryland and it carried sixteen-inch guns and made a remarkable run from its eastern port to Los Angeles.

Somehow, remarkable ship as it is, and with its enormous power for offense, it does not create the same thrill as before the Washington conference of nations that limited battleship building. There was a time when the hearts of loyal Americans thrilled every time a great battleship was laid down and another when it was sent on its trial trip, ready for fun, fight or frolic.

We doubt if there is the same spirit for warfare in the world that there was before the great war. The tremendous cost of that struggle has had a beneficial sobering effect. Not that we want to be without defense. Not that we intend to trust our future to the good will of other nations, because the time might come when that good will would be temporarily suspended. But we think it altogether a wholesome thing that the terrors of war have been pictured, as well as its glories. It may help to prevent more wars.

DRYING UP THE MOSLEMS

There is nothing like enthusiasm for a cause. The world has been moved along by the enthusiasts. Sometimes it may have been moved in a doubtful direction. But there is no gainsaying the motive power of enthusiasm.

A recent newspaper chronicle sets forth the departure of "Pussyfoot" Johnson to convert Islam to prohibition. He says the Moslems are drinking too much. Now to many of us it has been a matter of ignorance, and even indifference, whether the Moslems drank much or little. But not so to "Pussyfoot" Johnson. Liquor being an evil thing, it must be attacked in its every stronghold, if any strongholds are left. And we are willing to admit that the enthusiasm that will seek the desert to dry it up more than it is already dry is enthusiasm indeed.

And if the campaign is successful, the Moslems will soon be singing "How dry we are!" And they might at the same time direct at us over here the inquiry: "How dry are you?" It might be a difficult question to answer. For the reports do not at all agree. But there is no question that we are dryer in spots. And perhaps wetter in spots. At any rate, "Pussyfoot" Johnson seems to feel that there are more worlds to conquer for prohibition and he is on the job.

CANDIDATES AND PLATFORMS

Mr. Ford was quoted recently as stating that he was not a candidate for the presidency. We take it Mr. Ford meant what he said, and if he adheres to his decision he will be wise in politics as he is in manufacture.

Some of his supporters are, however, declaring that Mr. Ford will have nothing to say about the matter, but that he will be "drafted." So far as we know in the history of this country, aside perhaps from Washington, few men have been "drafted" for the presidency.

They have been nominated after usually hot preliminary struggles, and elected after struggles often equally bitter. It is one thing for the supporters of some individual to "draft" him. It is quite another thing to "draft" delegates and voters.

It may be that the desire to draft Mr. Ford has back of it the understanding of the width and depth of his purse. We take it, Mr. Ford has just as lively an interest in his purse as have his enthusiastic followers.

A "drafted" candidate for the presidency would necessarily have to have a platform to run on, and none of the platforms planks so far put forth by Mr. Ford would carry him very far in a presidential race.

When the wise guy fails he considers the man who succeeds a lucky fool.

No man can get a woman's meaning unless he can understand the language of her eyes.

NATIONAL GAMES

Do the French have any national games? Or the Germans? The English have plenty to engage their sporting attention in the way of cricket, races, golf and a multitude of diversions. We over here have baseball, the one national institution that is guaranteed to rest the mind of the tired business man, to engage the enthusiasm of the small boy, and to make even the hottest weather endurable.

We trust the time will never come when we shall be so seriously engaged with our own affairs or those of the world that we permit national interest in the national sport to die out. For it is a good thing to have diversion.

Life of late has taken on a note of pessimism and difficulty and bitterness that does not make for the best development of the race. Perhaps a French national game or a German one would help out over there. Difficult as trials may be, they are better borne and better solved with good spirit and optimism.

The games of the English and of us of the United States may have something to do with our rather rational and wholesome viewpoints.

You may hire some men to be good, but as soon as you stop paying them you're up against it.

Philanthropy is said to relieve men occasionally who are troubled with dyspepsia of the conscience.

Most of the sure things we bet on are sure for the other fellow.

NEW YORK ON THE JOB

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

Man is a queer animal. The closer he herds the lonelier he is. Where two or three are gathered together there may be friendliness and mutual esteem, but where two or three million foregather there is suspicion, chances of betrayal, neglect and indifference.

Take New York, for example. She has myriads of visitors and an assorted variety of gilded places of folly in which to receive them—and their dollars. But unless the visitor to Gotham has friends staged out in advance of his coming he is in a bad way for companionship.

New York knows this and has recently taken a unique method of meeting the situation. It's a financial scheme, to be sure, as most schemes in New York are likely to be, but it offers a chance for a lonely man, provided he has $10 at his disposal, to secure an agreeable companion for an evening at the theater or for dinner and a subsequent dance.

The company has registered a number of attractive women who for a consideration agree to act as American Gelsins. They can chat, they can dance, some of them can sing and play; they can attend current events and they dress attractively. The arrangement carries no obligations except that on the man's part; he agrees not to attempt to accompany the professional entertainer home. They part at the door of the theater, the dance hall or the cafe, each going his or her appointed way, the map to the desolation of his room, the girl to such shelter as she has.

Will it work? Nobody knows; the obstacles to be overcome are many and formidable. But it makes on the part of the city a recognition of a condition that somebody should meet.

Most of us know that it has long been the custom in Washington and other large cities for men to hire themselves out as professional escorts. They attend entertainments in private houses when the mistress finds herself unable to round up enough men by strictly private invitation or other inducement, to meet the need of escorts and partners for the debutants who will attend her crush. The paid escorts devote themselves to making the young women enjoy the evening. But it took New York to turn the plan about to employ professional women escorts for her visiting men.

Really, were it possible to develop this plan along decent lines, it might furnish employment for numbers of men and women who are drugs on the commercial market, holdovers from a vanishing order, folks who know how to behave and little else. Good dancers, brilliant or moderately good conversationalists, recitantes, amateur musicians, agreeable companions, night birds who love the bright lights and crave slumber when the business world is awake.

Let New York try it out; if it goes over other cities can follow.

It's no joke being lonely. Isolation has caused more than its share of suicide and crime. Women have done detective work and taken care of their lives and their morals; perhaps there may be a section of femininity capable of making a profession of companionship without injury to anybody. Anyhow, New York has developed originality to give the plan a try out.

THE RIGHT WORD

WHAT DID HE OBJECT TO?

(Finding error in this article.)
A correspondent in Chicago, W. N. Dawson, is uncertain whether some one objects to him (the correspondent) or to the returning of some drills for repairs.

The writer testifies to his uncertainty by sending two illustrative excerpts and asking, "Will you please inform me which of the excerpts is correct?" First excerpt: "In view of the fact that you declined sometime ago to permit us to send our track drills to Willard for repairs, do you object to me returning them to the Buda company for repairs?"

Second excerpt: "... do you object to my returning them to the Buda company for repairs?" Of course it is not a question of objection to the correspondent, but to the idea of returning them to the Buda company for repairs. Therefore, it is incorrect to ask, "do you object to me?" The right word is my. Aren't I right?

Another way of saying inhabitant is habitation. Thus we have the word habitation, which is a place of abode, or the act or state of inhabiting. This little explanation will probably remind you of the word habitat, which you have undoubtedly seen in zoological parks. Habitat expresses the region where a race, species, or individual naturally or usually lives or is found.

Queries
J. L. Howe, New York: "Is were or was right in the following notice on a 'Report of Errors or Misconduct' of the United States Post Office (the first five words are in print): 'It is reported that your clerk John Doe were 15 minutes late reporting for duty.'"

Answer: Were is correct. Clerk and John Doe should be set off by commas.

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

It is a splendid thing to persevere in kindness. And helpfulness. And friendliness.

JAMES W. FOLEY

On the theory that nothing worth while that is put into the world is lost.

There is a way of thinking that is popular with cynics.

The cynic is the individual who throws ice water upon high ideals and splendid enthusiasm.

He is the individual whose philosophy of life is "What's the Use?"

A very destructive and dangerous philosophy.

For it takes the heart out of enthusiasm.

And the great things of the world have been done out of enthusiasm.

So if you get into the habit of believing that it is of no use to be kind or friendly or helpful or anything like that, then you become cynical.

And you do not put anything worth while into the world.

And the world loses the best of you.

If while Edison was struggling with the electric light idea or the phonograph idea, some cynic had come along and said "What's the Use?" he might have discouraged the inventor. And the world might have lost both things.

The cynic would have said, "What is the use of writing down sound shadows on a piece of rubber or gum?"

And thrown ice water on enthusiasm.

Chilled the spirit of the inventor.

"What's the Use?"

Or when Lincoln was about to issue the emancipation proclamation some cynic might have said to him: "What's the Use?"

Songs of the Poets

Farewell! If Ever Fondest Pra yer—George Gordon Byron

Farewell! if ever fondest prayer

For other's weal availed on high,

Mine will not all be lost in air,

But wait thy name beyond the sky.

Twere vain to speak, to weep, to sigh;

Oh! more than tears of blood can tell,

When wrung from guilt's expiring eye,

Are in that word—Farewell!—Farewell!

These lips are mute, these eyes are dry;

But in my breast and in my brain

Awake the pangs that pass not by.

The thought that ne'er shall sleep again.

My soul nor designs nor dares complain,

Though grief and passion there rebel;

I only know we loved in vain—

I only feel—Farewell!—Farewell!

IS HE A HYPOCRITE?

By DR. FRANK CRANE

DID IT ever occur to you that perhaps the person you call a hypocrite is simply a more complex, a more highly organized person than yourself; and that the one you call

"good" and an honest, sincere soul, is sometimes merely narrow?

It's worth thinking over.

There are some large natures which cannot be satisfied with less than touching life at all points. They crave experience, all kinds of experience.

This of course is dangerous. Anything is dangerous except going to sleep. But it is becoming more and more a characteristic of our modern life.

And in some way or other

we have to get some ideas of morals and religion that will fit this wider and more adventurous spirit. It will not do any longer to say, "If you want to be good and go to heaven you must not see these things nor hear those, read this book nor know this fact."

Limitation, ignorance and protection have their place in the economy of life, but they are a poor substitute for character.

Before you dub a man a hypocrite find out the real gist of his life, whether he be loyal, clean and true, and not whether his manners and tastes are the same as yours and Mrs. Grundy's.

It is conceivable that a man may worship God and yet enjoy a theater.

Very often our conviction that a man is a hypocrite arises from the fact that his opinions or his practices differ so greatly from our own. We are so sure of ourselves, we are so positive that we are right, that we cannot possibly conceive how people can be otherwise and yet be sincere.

And the simplest solution of the problem is to declare that they are hypocrites.

I do not believe in human slavery. And I agree with

John Wesley who called it

"the sum of all human vil-lainies." But I know perfectly well that some of the very best, kindest and most just people in the world did once believe in slavery and were just as honest as I am.

Tolerance is a plan of late growth in life. And tolerance often indicates a lack of earnestness.

But there is such a thing as being both earnest and tolerant, being sincere and active in one's efforts to advance certain ideas and yet being broad enough and courteous enough to acknowledge the sincerity of our opponents.

There is a chivalry also among the knights of ideas.

MEATORS SAME AS EARTH MATERIALS

Meteors have always been looked on with interest by the sky watchers. They swoop down on us startlingly from some mysterious hinterland of outer space. We look with something of awe, even today, and wonder about them. Are they messengers from distant, strange worlds? Are they special? Do they differ in some essential way from the substance matter of the earth? The answer is an unromantic no.

Chemically meteorites are often composed of iron with some nickel, and smaller amounts of other elements. So far as the chemist can determine, the iron in meteors is just like the iron in the kitchen range or the garden hoe, and the nickel no different from that in the five-cent piece in your pocket. It seems to be pretty definite proof that our earth is part and parcel with the rest of the universe, and that all the splendid stars are now or will sometime be made up of just the kinds of chemical elements we find by scratching the surface of this little old earth.

The subject has recently taken on new interest for the scientist because of the discovery a few years ago of what are called isotopes. Many elements are not single substances, but are made of mixtures of single substances, the isotopes, which are so alike chemically that they cannot be separated by ordinary means. They stay together in all chemical processes, and only by laborious experiments with X-rays and radium substances has the scientist become convinced that they exist. Chlorine, one of the elements in common salt, has an atomic weight of 35.47, but it is now known to be made up of three isotopes of atomic weight ranging from 35 to 39, in the proportion to give just the odd weight found. So the question arose as to whether the iron and the nickel in meteors were made up of the same proportions of isotopes as are found in our terrestrial elements.

Prof. G. P. Baxter, working in one of the Harvard laboratories, has completed atomic weight determinations for both iron and nickel from a meteorite, and finds that in this way also the elements of the meteorite resemble those belonging to our earth.

There seems to be no doubt, therefore, that all of the matter of the universe came out of the same vast melting pot. Our sun differs from giant Betelgeuse, at the other end of the heavens, only in size and hotness. The warmth and the water and the light on our earth are probably very much like those on thousands of planets swinging in the vast spaces of the Milky Way; and, given these same conditions, it is more than likely that life is there also, and intelligence, perhaps thinking and wondering about us as we think and wonder about it.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

AREN'T FATHERS FUNNY?

There's no doubt about it. Fathers are funny. The children say so and their mothers admit it.

"My father is funny," said Madge to Bob.

"Yeh. So's mine."

"Whenever we children do something that he doesn't like he says, to mother, 'Those children of yours', but if we do something that's good he says: 'My children.' Isn't that funny?"

"Yeh. Mine's just like that. Last winter I had a run of bad luck. I got in trouble in English four. The teacher didn't like me and nothing I did suited. Of course I know I'm no star, but just the same she never gave me a mark she could help and I came near flunking. Got a second warning, you know. That made Dad sore. He says: 'Mother, that boy of yours isn't doing his work. What's the matter with him?'"

"Next thing I caught cold and had to stay in bed three days. Then I got back to school and fell on the stairs and sprained my ankle and the doctor had to come again. Just as I was getting spry again I got a boil on my neck and he had to come back again, and Dad says, 'That boy of yours seems to be doing nothing but getting sick. I was never sick like that!' And Ma never says a word!"

"No. Mother doesn't either."

"Well, long toward the end of the term I picked up, and ate the English so she had to give me a passing mark and I got the prize for the essay from the Bugle."

"I was glad to get that, so Ma could say something about me that wasn't against me, you see? All winter Dad had been saying, 'That boy of yours, so I chased home and told her about it.'

"Your father will be so pleased," says she. 'Run and tell him the first thing when he comes in.'"

"So, when Dad came in I told him and he smiled all over and when he was talking to Mr. Spence over the phone he says, 'Did you hear that my son Bob drew the medal from the Bugle?' and mother smiled as pleased as could be. 'Fathers are funny!'"

"Aren't they? And mothers just let them be and never say a thing. When the little ones get to scragging and crying, Father puts down his paper and calls, 'Stop that noise, and they quiet down a little bit and start right in again and then he hollers, 'Ma, can't you make those children of yours stop their racket?' and she does."

"But when the photographer came in and asked Ma if he could have a picture of the twins for exhibition father was very careful to see that his name was given as their father. I noticed that."

"Sure. When we're bad we belong to mother and when we're good, we take after father!"

"Yes. Aren't fathers funny?"

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

We had a terrible row in our Men's club last night. Terrible. Citizens who haven't given a thought to their responsibilities since the second battle of Bull Run woke up and muttered bitterly before they went to sleep again. The banker almost bit his fingers, he was so agitated. It all happened when Mock Harrington—

But this story should begin at the beginning. Our Men's club was having its usual meeting for the relief of the distressed—the distressed being several windy gentlemen who must talk now and then or die—and Judge Oliver made a speech about the duty that all citizens owe the commonwealth.

Mock Harrington had been drinking.

"That's a good thing," he said. "Listening to a judge about the duty of citizens! Listening to about the worst citizen we have!"

"I mean it," said Mock. "The criminal record of the United States is appalling. Compare it with that of Great Britain or France or Spain—with any of the so-called civilized countries—and convince yourselves. The reason why is that we do not punish crime. We permit criminals to block the courts and there—"

He pointed his finger right at Judge Oliver—

"There is one of the men who make this possible. If the judges of this country did their duty we would have less crime. If they compelled the prompt trial of cases there would be mighty little crime. Look at what happens intermittently in New York. When the crime wave gets to sloshing over the top of the municipal building the courts get busy and begin to shoot the gun-men through on a fast schedule. Then crime disappears."

Judge Oliver said he was never so insulted in his life. "I'm not going to quarrel with Mock Harrington," said he. "I'm going to buy him some more liquor and send him on tour."

DO YOU KNOW THAT—?

Asbestos withstands temperatures up to 1500 degrees Fahrenheit. A new fiber substitute for jute, obtained from the malvaceae plant, has been discovered by Mexican government laboratories.

FOR BUILDING AND MAINTENANCE

PRESENT PROPER INDUSTRIAL CONDITIONS PROVE THAT NOW IS THE TIME TO BUILD

From Waste to Thrift

Enough wasted capital to build homes for all

The Road to Thrift Ever Leads Away From Waste

Waste alone is not spending foolishly—it also comprises failure to spend wisely.

What more sensible expenditure can YOU make than when buying a HOME?

The wasteful family piles up rent receipts from year to year—unless fire burns them, or the mice make nests in them.

The thrifty family turns a rent receipt into a payment on a home, thereby saving moving inconvenience and expense and avoiding the annual house hunting nuisance.

Do you know, the United States Government thinks so much of the THRIFT movement that it is spending many thousands of dollars annually to keep the thought before the people?

Uncle Sam urges you to be thrifty; likewise every business man in town.

But, more than all, your wife and kiddies are mute petitioners every time you see them or think of them—to be thrifty and build your own home, and theirs.

Lop off a few of the unnecessary expenditures which every man has; add the sum saved to that you now pay for rent and the expenses of moving and wear and tear on furniture. You will be surprised how easily you can build a home on your present income.

Visit our display rooms and see hundreds of photographs and plans for homes—including the very one you want.

DR. FAREED TELLS OF POWER OF THE IMAGINATION

The subject of Dr. Fareed's message Sunday at the Church of Divine Realization was "Creative Imagination."

"Imagination is common wealth shared by all nations and individuals, a wealth shared by some individuals more than others."

"The old school of psychology, of which William James is a magnificent exponent, divides the imagination and the will and places the imagination secondary to the will," he said.

"The new school of psychology places the imagination first and declares that there must be active volition in thought, a mental image of the condition desired, before you can will that condition into manifestation."

"You cannot will unless you have imagined that you can will, therefore all activity of the imagination is of superlative importance. Taking from the practical aspect they must be considered together for they are very closely related."

"There are two kinds of creative imagination—the productive creative imagination and the reproductive creative imagination. To the former belong all the greatest thinkers."

"The pragmatic value of a truth is foremost and so it is of great value to us to know that imaginative creation is possible to all of us and the keynote of this truth is the secret of secrets."

"There is for man and all that lives, a substratum of finer forces, also called the spiritual plane or heavenly kingdom that have their correspondences in the lesser or more material kingdoms. The correspondences on earth may be illustrated by atomic activity."

"The states of all wisdom is 'absolute truth,' and the state of man may be defined in terms of relativity as 'being in an infinite scale of relative states. In that proportion that man fixed his imagination on the spiritual realities in that sub-state of all wisdom will he draw by his will, these truths into material manifestation."

"Fill your imagination so full of consciously constructive thoughts that there is no room for destructive thoughts and you will find that this is the key to the productive creative imagination that brings forth all that is good and wise and since like attracts like all good will be attracted to you."

KEITH L. BROOKS AT CITY HALL

The subject of the conversion of Saul of Tarsus drew a goodly crowd of business men to the Presbyterian Brotherhood Bible Class, which met in the city council rooms on Sunday morning. Keith L. Brooks, the teacher, said in part:

"No journey was ever taken on which so much interest has been concentrated as that of Saul from Jerusalem to Damascus. His conversion on the road was like the call of a second Abraham."

"Saul, breathing out threatenings and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord, obtained letters from the high priest, On the road to Damascus, at about noon time, Saul was struck from his horse and heard the voice of Jesus asking, 'Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?' Salvation is not tied to any church or mission hall. The most important individual conversion between the ascension and the second coming of Christ took place in the middle of the road. In its results it was the largest single fruit of the gospel."

Foley's Friendly Fancies

JAMES W. FOLEY

"Your life is so quiet and has so little zest. Believe what I tell you, the open road is best; A run in the road here would do you so much good. You'd find life so happy, if you but understood. The moon's shining brightly, it's warm in the dust. And I am your friend as you quite believe, I trust. So let us be happy and friendly and free. And come for a walk down the high road with me."

"Oh, Owl," said the Field Mouse, "I hear what you say. But you're not such a friend as I'd choose for my play: Your bill is so keen and so sharp it belies All the kind words you say and so cold are your eyes; And your claws are so long, as I've looked at them oft, They do not harmonize with a voice that is soft; I might take your advice and go forth with a will, Were it not for your eyes and your claws and your bill!"

The moral I'm sure is exceedingly plain, So I won't take the time to repeat it again.

JAMES W. FOLEY

Saul was and there he found Saul praying. It is precisely what Christianity does for men today. It makes the lion lie down with the lamb. Lord Lyttleton and Sir Gilbert West were skeptics and resolved to write books to discredit the Christian faith. The result was they were both converted and Lyttleton wrote a book proving Christianity by the conversion of Saul while West wrote in favor of the resurrection of Christ.

"After a brief time of preparation the converted Saul goes forth as the herald of Christ."

"No wonder the people were amazed. The fact that this bigoted persecutor, at the climax of honor with the Jews, should suddenly cast his lot in with the despised Christians and enter a course of self-sacrificing labor and suffering, is complete evidence of the truth of Christianity. This argument has had tremendous weight in all ages. Hundreds have been unable to answer it."

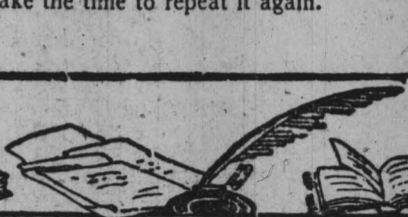

"A vision came to a man named Ananias which prepared him to go and deal with the waiting Saul. He was directed to the house where

THE WISE MOUSE

Said the Owl to the Field Mouse: "The open road is best; Don't hide all your life in that damp and hidden nest. The world's for the taking and sights are to see; Come out in the open and see the sights with me. I'll show you the beauties of many a field and farm, And guide you and help you and keep you from harm. It's wet in the grass there and chill as can be, So come from your hiding and walk along with me."

"Oh, Owl," said the Field Mouse, "I hear what you say. But you're not such a friend as I'd choose for my play: Your bill is so keen and so sharp it belies All the kind words you say and so cold are your eyes; And your claws are so long, as I've looked at them oft, They do not harmonize with a voice that is soft; I might take your advice and go forth with a will, Were it not for your eyes and your claws and your bill!"

The moral I'm sure is exceedingly plain, So I won't take the time to repeat it again.

NAZARENE TENT ATTENDANCE IS GROWING RAPIDLY

The attendance at the Nazarene tent on Monday was very encouraging to the evangelist. The text chosen by Rev. Swaney was Matt. 6:24. The verse reads, "No man can serve two masters."

Rev. Swaney spoke in part as follows:

"Even a dumb brute knows that that's so. Men may go along with halfhearted service and yet be sinning Christians. Saint John tells us that if any man love the things of this world the love of the Father is not in him. We cannot have the love of God in our hearts and conform to the things of this world. To be a servant of God means quitting the sin business. The man that tells you it's hard to live the Christian life is mistaken. Do you know that the service of sin and the life of sin has filled the jails full. It pays to live right and have a clear conscience. Again the Bible says, 'He that committeth sin is a child of the devil, but he that doeth righteousness is a child of God.' God will have all your life, or He will have none. When you bring your heart to God you'll have a clean heart, for God Almighty has grace sufficient to purify the heart. It is possible for a person to go such a case of salvation from sin that they can sing 'Praise God from whom all blessing flow,' with a blistered tongue. In Romans 6:18, we have two lives contrasted. The sinful life and the fruitful life."

In the sermon last night Rev. Swaney spoke at length in regard to the amusements of this day and age. The amusements mentioned by Rev. Swaney were the movies, the dance and the card parties. The music of the evening was of the usual high order and included a vocal solo by Mrs. E. B. Moore of South Maryland. Just before the sermon Mrs. Hull sang very effectively and with much feeling, "The Ninety and Nine." It is expected that there will be another large crowd at the service tonight. The service starts at 7:30 p. m.
